

HEAD

HEART

HAND

Ever find yourself needing to change the energy in the classroom? Refocus the students? Needing to transition students from activity to thoughtful reflection? From reading to talking? From thinking to action? Engaging for deeper inquiry?

In this app you will find a series of short 'easy to give' and 'quick to do' activities. They are divided into three categories – head (for thinking and talking), heart (for emotions and relationships) and hand (for making and creating). Just click...up comes a one sentence easy to deliver activity...like it and use it...or just move on to another one waiting to be found. If it works well then keep it in your favourites folder to call on again and again with different groups of students.

We designed it with teachers in mind

Advisory teachers, homeroom teachers, primary teachers... all teachers will find a use for these activities.

WARNING: some of these activities may turn into months of exploration and inquiry.

Go to www.headhearthand.net for more Head, Heart and Hand activities for you to try.

See more in the iTunes store

